Alarm permit means a permit issued by Fannin County allowing the operation of an alarm system within the County.

Alarm signal means a detectable signal; audible or visible, generated by an alarm system, to which law enforcement or fire service is requested to respond.

Alarm system means any signal device or assembly of equipment designed to signal the occurrence of an illegal or unauthorized entry, smoke, fire, excessive heat, carbon monoxide or other activity requiring immediate attention and to which law enforcement or fire services is requested to respond, but does not include motor vehicle or boat alarms, domestic violence alarms, or alarms designed to elicit a medical response.

Automatic dial protection device means an automatic dialing device or an automatic telephone dialing alarm system and shall include any system which, upon being activated, automatically initiates to the Fannin County 911 system a recorded message or code signal indicating a need for law enforcement or fire department response.

Cancellation means the process whereby response is terminated when the alarm company (designated by the alarm user) notifies Fannin County 911 that there is not an existing situation at the alarm site requiring a response after an alarm dispatch request. If cancellation occurs prior to arrival of County resources at the scene, this is not a false alarm for the purpose of civil penalty, and no penalty will be assessed.

County means Fannin County, a political subdivision of the State of Georgia, together with any of its designated officials, officers, or agents.

False alarm means the activation of an alarm system through mechanical or electronic failure, malfunction, improper installation, or the negligence of the alarm user or his/her employees or agents, that when activated summons law enforcement personnel or fire services unless the response was cancelled by the alarm user or his/her agent before law enforcement or fire personnel arrive at the alarm location. An alarm is false, as used herein, when, upon inspection by the County or the Fannin County Sheriff's office, evidence indicates that no unauthorized entry, robbery, or other such crime was committed or attempted in or on the premises or, upon inspection by the County, including personnel of the Fannin County Fire Department, no smoke, carbon monoxide or fire is located or detected which would have activated a properly functioning alarm system.

Local alarm means an alarm system that emits a signal at an alarm site that is audible or visible from the exterior of a structure and is not monitored by a remote monitoring facility, whether installed by an alarm company or user.

Permit year means a year or portion thereof ending on December 31 of any calendar year.

Runaway alarm means an alarm system that produces repeated alarm signals that do not appear to be caused by separate human action. The County, the Fannin County Sheriff Department or the Fannin County Fire Department may, in its discretion, discontinue responses to alarm signals from what appears to be a runaway alarm.

SIA Control Panel Standard CP-01 means the American National Standard Institute (ANSI) approved Security Industry Association (SIA) CP-01 Control Panel Standard, as may be updated from time to time, that details recommended design features for security system control panels and their associated arming and disarming devices to reduce false alarms. Control panels built and tested to this standard by a nationally recognized testing organization, will be marked to state: “Design evaluated in accordance with SIA CP-01 Control Panel Standard Features for False Alarm Reduction”.

Verify means an attempt by the monitoring company, or its representative, to contact the alarm site and/or alarm user by telephone and/or other electronic means, whether or not, actual contact with a person is made, to attempt to determine whether an alarm signal is valid before requesting law enforcement dispatch, in an attempt to avoid an unnecessary alarm dispatch request. For the purposes of this ordinance, telephone verification shall require, as a minimum that a second call be made to a different number if the first attempt fails to reach an alarm user who can properly identify themselves to attempt to determine whether an alarm signal is valid before requesting law enforcement dispatch. If the alarm is for smoke, fire or carbon monoxide, the verification process should be accomplished after the monitoring company has contacted Fannin County E911 to dispatch fire services.
